Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0735327A2] The covering has a rectangular top grille (1) with edges (11,12) which are each bent downwards at a right angle, and has side covers (2) which are fixed to its end edges (11). These edges have pairs of tabs (15), or of edge sections, which are separated from one another, and which have elements for connecting to sections of the side covers. Each tab in a pair engages with a section of a side cover which is offset inwards by the thickness of the tab. The tabs have hook elements (17,17a) which can engage in openings (24) in the offset sections, in order to create a connection which cannot be detached.
