Abstract (en)
A credit-operated entertainment machine, such as a random-selection fruit machine, has a housing (1) containing the main control system (23,24), and a display panel (9) through which electrical display devices (15, 16) can be seen. The machine is made in modular form and the display panel (9) can be removed and replaced with a different display panel (9) to enable the game to be played to be changed without requiring replacement of the entire machine. The display panel (9) may incorporate display devices in the form of lamps (15) and also rotatable reels (16) which are removable and replaceable with the panel (9). <IMAGE>
