Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0744197A1] The ski has a sole (8), with lower edges (9) and a reinforcing element, a core (13) and an outer layer (12). The central part of the ski has two feet (15) which are in the core and they are joined to a vertical part (16). This holds an upper element (17) above the upper surface of the ski that forms a raised platform. The feet, vertical part and platform are made in one piece which is H-shaped. The outer ends of the feet rest on the lower edges and the vertical part passes through the upper surface of the ski.
