Abstract (en)
[origin: WO9523952A1] A non-polluting firearm projectile including a core made of a mixture of at least two non-heavy materials, and a shell at least partially enclosing the core. The core consists of a mixture of a material selected from the group which includes plastics and non-heavy metals, and loaded with particles of a heavier material. The shell may be made of metal or plastic, e.g. polyethylene optionally loaded with iron particles.
