Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0749706A1] A washered rivet which comprises, in combination, a rivet and a washer whose inner peripheral portion around the center hole is depressed to a truncated conical shape toward the cloth or other object with which it comes in contact. The washered rivet is set on the cloth by pressing down the shank end of the rivet over the washer using a die having a cavity larger in diameter than the center hole of the washer.
