Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0754420A2] The rail (11) is adjustable in height according to the requirements of the user. The rail can be mounted on a side of the shelf face facing the user. The rail can be fixed on a frame (2) supporting the shelf face from below. It is attached to the frame by two holding arms (6) which fit in or on a support section of the frame. The arms are detachably connected to the frame on one side and to the rail on the other. Supporting elements (10) can be inserted between the arms and rail in order to adjust the height.
