Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0754919A1] The oven door has a door base (9) provided at its front with a decorative cover panel (13), secured by at least one fixing element (55). This has a catch which prevents the panel from being removed from the door unless it is manually released. Pref. the door has an access opening for operation of the concealed catch, with cooperating elements of the panel fixing and the door base cooperating for centring the panel relative to the door base.
