Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0756053A2] The key card (8) has a magnetisable layer inserted between its opposing outer surfaces (A,B), with raised projections (10,11) provided across one of these surfaces, the magnetised regions of the magnetisable layer lying outside the profiling provided these projections. The projections may be provided as raised ribs (11) extending along the opposing side edges on one side of the key card and by raised nobbles (10) on the opposite side of the key card.
