Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0761435A1] The appts. has a first spool (5) that starts rolling process of a printing image support body at a mantle surface formed inside a version trunk (1). A second spool (6) finishes the rolling process of the printing support body around the mantle surface of the version trunk. A contact-surface opening (2) is formed at an inner space provided at the mantle surface of the version trunk. The first and second spools are arranged at the inner space. The inner space is provided as a printing image support body releasing unit. The flexible printing image support body is extracted from the version trunk through a support rolling mechanism (30) held by a support (3) at a fixed position.
