Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0765693A1] The annular flanges (13) are rigidly attached to the face end of the roller (3) and protrude beyond the its external diameter. The annular flange is especially formed on the face end sealing components (6) connected to the roller. The annular flange may be formed by a sealing cover (7). This is detachably fitted on the face ends of the roller and is preferably clamped to it.
