Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0766936A1] The system has a reservoir to hold a quantity of the wax, having an aperture at least partially closed by a dispenser (7). The applicator can be placed on a base (2) containing an electrical heater. The heater comprises an inductor (4) fixed to the base and an induced member (6) fixed to the applicator or reservoir and integrated with the dispenser. The dispenser is immersed in the reservoir and makes contact with the wax inside it, regardless of the level to which it is filled and the position of its aperture. The reservoir is cylindrical in shape, and the dispenser is in the form of a ring which fits inside it. The outer diameter of the ring being between 60 and 95 per cent of the inner diameter of the reservoir.
