Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0768427A1] To obtain a modular paving block having rough surfaces, a concrete block (10-13) is first provided. Then, the block (10-13) is split in such manner to obtain a modular paving block element (20) having a quadrilateral split rough surface (21). The starting block may be elongate (10), or slab-like (11), or a conventional self-locking concrete block (12,13). The modular paving block elements (20) are laid with their split rough surface (21) facing upwards so as to form a paving. <IMAGE>
