[origin: EP0770347A1] The stabilizing system has connecting rods (2) fixable at the ends to swivel joints (1). These joints have screws (4) forming the joint axes and tension members (5) in active connection with the screws. Some of the tension members are holders (5') for a partition structure and some are connected integral with a structural part (7) forming both the system holder (8) and also an additional joint part connectable with a rod. The holders have a slit (13) and clamping screw (15) for the partition wall.
