Abstract (en)

[origin: WO9606214A1] The invention concerns a container (1) for a laundry treatment agent, in particular a washing powder (3), to be placed in a washing machine. During the course of a washing process, the laundry treatment agent is dispensed from the container (1) into the suds. The container (1) comprises a wall (6, 7). In order to attenuate the noises caused by the container hitting the washing drum when it is inside the washing machine, the container wall (6, 7) has slot-like apertures (8), each aperture (8) terminating at its ends in the container wall (6, 7).
