Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0780071A2] The running roller (20) is rotatable around an horizontally running axis at right-angles to the withdrawal direction. It can run on running tracks (18a,18b) on a running rail (14) on the furniture body wall. The guide rails (14) in their body outer front end area have at least one running roller (24) rolling on a running track (26) formed on the drawer side wall (12). The running roller rotatably located on the drawer side wall (12) in the furniture body interior end area has a slider component part (38) held longitudinally displaceably on the side wall between an inwardly drawn position and a withdrawn position over the rear wall of the drawer in the direction of the furniture rear wall.
