Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0790468A2] The cooker or hob (7) includes a refrigerated compartment in the unit closed with a front door and backed with a refrigerator absorber unit. The hob is mounted on top of the compartment with one or more gas burners (8) set into circular apertures in a cover plate (13) which can be assembled and dismantled independently of other components. The burners are adjustable in height so that they can be brought up through the apertures for combination with burner heads snapped on from above, and have sensors (26) and seals (27). An injector tube (9), fixed to each burner, is pivotable about its connection to an adjustable gas supply.
