Abstract (en)

A condenser for vehicle air-conditioning systems, including at least one row of tubes (12) fixed to a stack of substantially flat fins (14) by mechanical expansion of the tubes (12) once they have been inserted through aligned holes (26) in the fins (14). The spacing (P') between the fins (14) at either end of the stack is smaller than the spacing between the fins (14) in the central portion (22) of the stack. <IMAGE>
