Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0796668A1] The device has an application roller (1) on a bracket, fastened to a stem-shaped bracket carrier (3). The roller has an associated spray protection device (5). The device is movable between a working position, in which it encloses the carrier-sided part of the roller trough-like, and a position, in which the roller is freed. The spray protection device may contain a trough (6). It is fastened to a coupling pipe (10), and the carrier stem passes this pipe. The pipe is secured against turning relative to the pipe by a bag/slot arrangement (13). The device is retracted from its working position against a return spring (14).
