Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0800810A1] The supports (26,30) on each link (32,34) are located at their floor-side end particularly on a frame (28). The first and second bed components (14,16) are held at spaced positions, particularly via support links (36,38). The links (32,34) at the floor-side end of the supports coincide in their pivot axes and the link axis extends crossways to the longitudinal direction of the therapy bed. A first adjustment component (40), particularly a power cylinder, is fitted between the frame (28) and a second support (30) and a second adjustment component (46) is fitted between the frame or one of the supports.
