Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0803217A2] The head part (1) has a slide area (2) which guides the slider on the running track (6) of the rail. It has a fixing area (3) which guidably fixes the slider in the guide slot (5) of the curtain rail. The connecting component (4) supporting the accommodation part (7) is arranged non-centrally on the head part. The head parts and slide area may be rectangular and underneath the head part a connecting component and a fixing component connect in an off centre manner. The head part and the slide part may have a hammer head formation and the narrowed section of the hammer head can be inclined in the direction of the connecting component.
