Abstract (en)

[origin: WO9623457A1] A plug is provided for use with a specially bored acetabular cup which thoroughly prevents debris (e.g. polymeric debris) from getting through any hole(s) in the cup and which is removable from the cup if desired. The plug is metal and acts with the hole in a compression fit relationship. A method for preventing debris from passing through a hole in an acetabular cup and into a patient's body is also given.
