Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0812773A1] The box is made from a separate lid and base, the lid being made from a panel with side flaps connected by fold lines which allow the top to be laid out flat prior to use and folded when required into a parallelepiped shape. Two of its opposite side flaps have cut-out holes. The base of the box has a panel (201) with flaps (202 - 205) forming its sides, connected by pleated corners (210 - 213). Two opposite side flaps have cut-out holes (214, 215). When the lid is fitted to the bottom of the box the side holes are aligned and are joined together by an inner connecting element (216) made from a hollow piece of moulded plastics. Each connecting element can be in two sections with a slit between them for a string or ribbon.
