Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0812938A1] Carrier body for a weft yarn grip and transfer in a gripper loom comprises weft carried through the shed by a grip to be transferred to another grip for the full passage through the shed, and is largely open at the top. One end is shaped to form a gripper point section. The body has a base (5) and two side walls (6,7) to give an upwards guide for the warps (10), on the side towards the reed or fabric. A section (22) of the side wall (7) at the fabric side has an angled shape against the gripper point.
