Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0813031A2] A large tray that sits on top of an electric oven with circular holes where all the cooking points protrude through has a further cooking point with an electrical plug projecting from the surface of the tray, connected to the electrical supply. The plug is within a hole in the tray. There is a seal between the plug and the tray. The plug is surrounded by a closed annular shoulder on the tray surface, broken however in at least one place by a drain channel. The inner wall of the shoulder is spaced away by a minuscule amount from the outer wall of an additional domestic apparatus put down on the plug.
