Abstract (en)
[origin: DE19508756A1] In a flat bed knitting machine with needle beds, needles lying in needle channels of the needle beds and at least one cambox movable over the needle beds having cambox sections (3, 5, 6, 7, 11) to push out and draw down the needles for transferring stitches, it is a simple matter to divide stitches without changing the cambox in that the cambox has at least one switchable cambox section (38, 8, 14) for dividing stitches. The switchable cambox section (38, 8, 14) is preferably actuated by means of a bistable switching magnet (32) on the side of a cambox plate (31) away from the needle bed.
