Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0813916A2] The frame (2) is formed as a one-piece hollow component which is suitable for holding one or more different types of fluids. The frame consists of two hollow spars (8,9) which are interconnected fluidwise by at least one hollow cross member (10) or connecting piece (26). The frame is made of plastic and the cavity formed inside the frame is divided into several separate chambers each with a filling connection (20) for fluid.
