Abstract (en)
[origin: US5911538A] A transverse force rod having at least one bearing cage disposed on both sides of a joint. Each bearing cage has a front plate and a trapezoidally shaped steel strip which is welded to the front plate. The transverse force rod is fixedly supported in one bearing cage, and a transverse force rod bearing sleeve is fixedly supported in the front plate of another bearing cage. The transverse force rod or the transverse force rod bearing sleeve penetrates the front plate and the steel strip of the one bearing cage or the other bearing cage.
