Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0814301A1] A luminaire suspension arrangement has a holder (1), or the end of the suspension arrangement, close to the light, and an attached mounting unit (2,3) which can be removably attached to a light arrangement carrier frame (6) behind mutually facing lateral protrusions (61,62) in the profile of the frame. The attachment unit has an angled bearing device (2) on which the holder in the form of a bolt-shaped connection element is centrally mounted, and a locking spring (3) acting as a latching element. The latching element shape locks with the carrier frame to secure the angled bearing device against rotation w.r.t. the carrier frame.
