Abstract (en)
[origin: DE19635376C1] The spandrel-braced, profiled supports (3) are spaced apart by a pre-set amount in parallel rows on height adjustable struts (1', 1") on a base (2). The profiled supports are for a base layer consisting of plates (7) and or a continuous layer. Rocker bearings (1") are positioned between the levelled struts (1') in a pre-set grid formation. The profiled supports are assembled into rectangular frames (4) with braces (5,6). The corners of the frames rest on the levelled struts. The profiled supports and braces consists of boxes enclosed on at least tree sides. The profiled supports and braces have slots.
