Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0826931A1] The holder has a wall-mounting (3) with carrier (15), and two clamp parts (18,26), to hold two neighbouring radiator pipes (5). At least the second clamp part can be released by being moved from the front, and turned about an axis (45) of the holder. One clamp part has at least two pairs of diametrically opposite support zones, for different pipe distances and pipe diameters. Each clamp part has a passage bore (21,32) for the neck of a clamp screw (34), which forms the pivot axis. The threaded part of the screw is screwed into a thread (37) in the carrier.
