Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0833108A1] The arrangement, with an oven that has a cooling fan in the housing and a cooking bowl in a housing on top, has both housings combined through an air pipe so that the fan (11) can cool both. Each housing has at least one opening for the cooling, the oven housing (6) having it or them on the top side and the bowl housing (23) having it or them on the bottom. The bowl housing opening is on the suction side of the fan. This fan forces the induction air against the front side of the baking oven. It is located between the top of the oven housing and the top of a flame tube for the oven.
