Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0835979A1] A corner part defined between the first (1) and second (2) housing part contains a join (9) formed at least partly by a profiled strip (16). The interior defined by the two housing parts contains an insulating arrangement with at least one insulating body (3,4,14,18). The first housing part is in the form of a plate extending between a top positioning point (8) and the join. The second housing part is in the form of a plate joined to the first housing part through the profiled strip.
