Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0836822A1] The display packaging for a watch comprises a support for the watch. The support is constituted by a first module (1) having a support surface (4) with a first support length. In a second configuration, resulting from assembling this first module with a second complementary movable module (7), the support surface (4,8) has a support length greater than the first. The second module has two lateral tabs (10) which engage in lateral slots (5) in the first module.
