Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0836885A1] The rear wall (4) and bottom surface (3) of the shredder consists of a plate which is in one piece and flat in its initial form, and has transversely extending bending grooves (BN) between the bottom and side sections. When the underframe is assembled, the plate is held at 90 degrees by the fitting of correspondingly profiled side sections. The side sections have connecting points for the housing of the shredder to form with it a rigid box-form construction.
