Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0838407A1] The invention concerns a tray (1) of a plastic material for separating yarn spools disposed in layers on a pallet. The tray (10) is formed by a plurality of modular members (10) connected to each other, each member comprising a base (11) from which protrudes a series of elements (12, 13, 14) for the engagement with at least one spool (20) of yarn, said members (10) being integrally formed with said base (11), and being laterally provided with means (6) for the coupling with adjacent modular members (10). <IMAGE>
