Abstract (en)

A method for processing photographic sheet material (S) comprises passing the sheet material (S) along a sheet material path (P) through a bath of processing liquid in a processing cell (12). The processing liquid is brought into the vicinity of said sheet material (S) in a direction generally normal to the surface thereof and is removed from the vicinity of the sheet material (S) in an opposite direction. More uniform processing of photographic sheet material is achieved. <IMAGE>
