Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0843977A1] A bracelet fastening consisting of a base plate (1) and two upper plates (2) which are pivoted to its ends and clip into position against the base plate. The clip mechanism comprises raised tongues (4, 5) in pairs on the base plate and forks (6) on the upper plates which engage with them. Each of the forks has two branches with curved tips (9, 10) which pass between the ends of a pair of tongues and clip in place beneath them. Both base and upper plates are made from metal strip with the tongues and forks cut out of them.
