Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0844349A2] The strip (100) for mounting to door and window frames (1) and strip section (20) for mounting to the window or door pane frame (2) is bonded wholly by pressing the pin (30) along its length into an opening (21). The pin has projecting locking sections (33) round its circumference, which are pressed by an elastic force into the pin body when it is pressed into the opening of the mounting section (4). When the pin is pressed fully home, the projection reasserts itself against a shoulder (24) within the opening away from the pin body. For removal, the projection is moved by a tool away from the shoulder towards the pin body. The pin is an injection moulded plastics component.
