Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0844592A2] The supermarket trolley has a horizontal handgrip (4) extending between the ends of a pair of handle carriers (2,3). A coin-operated lock (8) lies between the handgrip and one of the latter, secured via a security screw (18) extending along the axis (7) of the handgrip. The security screw may fit through a projection (9) of the coin-operated lock which fits into the adjacent end of the handgrip. The end of the security screw projects beyond the projection.
