Abstract (en)
A one-piece blank for use in providing a display container in the form of a hollow body (30) having an internal display platform (10B) has a body-forming area (1) which is foldable to form the generally hollow body. The area (1) has a pair of flaps (10) connected to it by fold lines (10A) so as to extend generally transversely of the body-folding direction. The arrangement is such that the flaps (10) are foldable to a position generally transverse to the body wall in the formed container to form the display platform. A method of making a container using the aforesaid blank is also described.
