Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0851065A1] The set comprises two or more basic bricks, each with front, rear and two transverse faces, and two connecting bricks (20,23) joining them together. These bear against each other and against the transverse faces of the basic bricks. In plan view, the connecting bricks are trapezoid, their bases (21) bearing against transverse faces on the basic bricks, while their inclined faces (26) bear against each other. Mating faces of connecting bricks can contain tongues and grooves (24,25), and the connecting bricks can fit positively against the basic ones, their joint faces being correspondingly curved, with those of the connecting bricks concave.
