Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0856385A1] The power tool is fitted with a hand grip to hold the tool and to press it into the working position. The hand grip is fitted with a shaped cover (25) which dampens the vibrations and provides a comfortable grip. The damping is provided by an elastic element (40) between the cover and the hand grip. The cover has a rigid support shell. The bottom end of the cover (30) has a clip fitting into the hand grip. The top end of the cover is located onto the elastic element and is clipped into a notch in the hand grip. The tool can be operated without the cover.
