Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0857450A1] The support is assembled of a rectangular floor part and four side upright walls. The walls are joined to the floor by a tongue-and-groove joint and to each other by corresponding profile sections. A rectangular extending edge web projects downwards. Longitudinal and transverse ribs extend parallel to the web and are provided on an underside so that the rib is removable, to enable the edge web and the longitudinal ribs to form reception spaces for the non-assembled side walls and transverse ribs.
