Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0861627A2] This utilitarian object, is used especially in fitting, furnishing or equipping. It has a lower part (1) for wall fastening. An upper part (2) forming a position for use, may be placed on and joined to the lower section, in a particular direction. The parts have interlocking connections, which are assembled by clipping together, forming a detachable connection. To prevent unauthorised release, there is a hidden spring in one part and an opening (27) for the introduction of a tool. This is a purpose-orientated device which acts indirectly on the spring to effect release. The spring acts on a slide plate (3) which has an angled surface fitting the tool.
