Abstract (en)

Even if the casing is provided with a retainer spring (208) and the staple blank strip (300) is provided with a stopper portion (303) at the trailing end portion thereof, the staple cartridge can be refilled with a new staple blank strip (300) without necessity of disassembly of the casing body (210). The casing is provided with an openable cover B which opens a part of the casing behind a position between the leading end (202a) of the casing and the engagement portion (209) so that the staple blank strip (300) can be replaced. <IMAGE>
