Abstract (en)
[origin: WO9720003A1] A solid-particulates-containing composition that can be available ready-made but with a substantial shelf life; in one form it can truly be applied like a conventional paint, and in another form is workable in the manner of a putty. With only a light polishing or burnishing it gives an excellent finish. More specifically, the solid-particulates-containing composition comprises 5-80% by volume of the chosen particulate solid dispersed within either a vinyl acetate polymer product or an acrylic polymer product (or one which is a mixture of the two, with, per 100 volume parts of vinyl acetate polymer product, 5-80 parts of acrylic polymer product), there being, per 100 volume parts of the chosen polymer, from 25 to 80 parts of water.
