Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0864503A2] A cut-out piece of cardboard has a base part roughly the area of the picture-holder (2). Protective edge strips in the form of two hollow profiles (3a,3b) are on at least two facing sides. A fixture strip directly next to the hollow profiles holds down the picture holder against the base part. The side of the picture holder facing away from the base part has no cardboard. The fixture strip is divided by a fold line into two pieces (7). The second fixture strip piece is folded on the fold line and is positioned between the first fixture strip piece and the base part. The second fixture strip piece between the first fixture strip piece and the base part extends over the whole first fixture strip piece into the hollow profiles containing a reinforcement element (8).
