Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0864710A2] The protection for the edge of steps, in a flight of stairs, is a profiled rod in two part-profiled rod sections (1,2). One part-profile rod (2) has two legs (2,3), at right angles to each other, to be fitted to the body of the step at the corner edge. The body at the outer corner (4), between the two legs (2,3), has two projecting legs (5,6) to form a U-shaped zone (7) between them, to accommodate the other part-profile rod (1), pushed into place.
