Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0864721A2] Peripheral profiles for furniture doors of the sliding type (16) or of the hinged type (17), or also for other like applications, obtained by the combination of at least two or three sections (X), (Y) and (Z). Said sections have configurations that comprise, combined with one another: grooves (3) for the restraint of the edges of panels and/or glass panes (7) or the like; grooves (3) for the restraint of brackets and/or junction means in general and possible grooves (22, 28) wherein are engageable with a self-threading system, the screws for the connection of accessories related with the various compositions, such as for instance wheels (31) and sliding blocks (24) for sliding doors, hinges (18) for foldable doors, and the like. The brackets and the junction means, the hinges, wheels, sliding blocks and the like are all connectable by means that neither damage nor disfigure with holes or the like the external on-sight surfaces of said profiles. <IMAGE>
