Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0866183A2] The plate (1) is secured on a frame (4), preferably on its lower edge (3), with an locking device (30). The locking device is captively mounted in a holder element's (16) adjustable locking element (10), which is, for instance, movable with a screw-key (32) between an unlocked and a locked position. In the locked position, a height relocation of the cover plate (1) is prevented. The holder element may have an opening (18) in which the locking element may be adjustable when the cover plate is set. The locking element may be mounted on the rear-side of the cover plate, and be turnable in the opening of the holder element.
